COUNTY SCHOOL COLUMN

On Thursday evening, October 7th, a representative of the Kent Extension School will be in room 11 of the Raven High School, to arrange for courses in extension school work. All teachers of the city and outlying school districts who care to avail themselves of this opportunity of getting normal school credits right at home, and practically without any additional cost, should report at that meeting.

The Mahoning Valley Schoolmasters' Club has changed the date of its meeting from Oct. 8th to Oct. 15th, on account of a conflict with another organization which meets regularly at the Y. M. C. A. On the 15th, we shall have assistant superintendent Hotchkiss of Cleveland with us to give a report on "How the Gary System Works." This is the second year for the Schoolmasters' Club, which has proven to be a very interesting and profitable organization. The club is composed entirely of men from the districts of Trumbull, Stark, Portage, Columbiana and Mahoning counties.

The Northeastern Teachers' Meeting will be held in Cleveland on Friday and Saturday, October 22 and 23. As usual, an interesting program has been prepared. The speakers of national reputation will be President Edwin E. Sparks, of the Pennsylvania State Normal College, and Commissioner Calvin M. Kendall, State Commissioner of Education, New Jersey.

The usual departmental program has been arranged for Friday afternoon, and a rare concert for Friday evening. This meeting has grown to such proportions that it is necessary to make use of two of Cleveland's Auditoriums, namely: The Hippodrome and Prospect Theatre, at the regular sessions.

Friday evening, October 1, school fairs were held in Coitsville township at Thornhill, Science Hill and Geography Hall. The Fair at Thornhill, a two-room building, was a most delightful and happy event. The children of the school enjoyed this immensely, and the hundreds of parents and interested school patrons who were present were delighted with the large amount of fruits, vegetables, handwork, and live stock that the school children had on exhibition. The social features of the evening were all that could be expected. At Science Hill the displays were exhibited in the gymnasium. The teachers and children took great delight in arranging in an artistic way the products of the community. Such a display of live stock as was to be seen there was a surprise to all those who witnessed the exhibition. In the evening the hundreds who witnessed the exhibition and enjoyed the social features of the evening, bore testimony to the fact that school fairs are one of the most delightful of any of the social activities of the school. The teachers, the school children, the parents, were all elated over the successful outcome. At Geography Hall, Miss Dena Harshman gave a good demonstration as to what can be done by a one-room school in the way of holding a school fair. Miss Harshman, too, had reasons to congratulate herself on the happy culmination of the undertaking.

On this Friday evening, Boardman and North Lima will hold school fairs. Since each of these buildings are well lighted, the work will be displayed in the different rooms of the building, and thus the schools will be able to accommodate as many as chance to come.

The North Lima School Fair will be a large one, and in addition to a large display of exhibits, the different rooms of the school will give an entertainment in the auditorium. A 15c admission will be charged for the entertainment in the auditorium, the proceeds of which will go toward the purchase of a Victrola for the school. Seven of the school rooms in Boardman school will be used for displaying the exhibits, and the following form of entertainment will be afforded. The high school room will offer vaudeville, the high school laboratory room will offer an opportunity for throwing at the nigger, as well as fortune-telling. The candy booth in the office will offer sweet-meats, Cider and doughnuts can be purchased in the halls. Ice cream and cake will be sold in the domestic science room.

The following schools have arranged for fairs on the following dates: Wednesday, October 13th, the Boyer school, teacher, Miss Jennie Gustafson; Tuesday, October 19th, the Bear school, teacher, Miss Villa Konkle; The Pureka school, teacher, Miss Edna Heiser, and the Pine Hill school, teacher, Miss Mabel Metzler, have determined upon fairs, but have not yet set the dates.

The teachers of District No. 2 and the teachers of Beaver township will hold a teachers' meeting in Canfield, October 9th.

Miss Alpha Bair of Creston, Ohio, has been selected as the assistant teacher in the Germantown school.

There were 28 applicants at the teachers' examination Saturday, October 2nd.

All teachers in the county who have pupils in the grades from the 4th to the 8th grades, inclusive, began Monday, Oct. 4th, to keep a record of each pupil's work in spelling, and to carry out the instructions for the County Comparative Contest in Spelling. In practically every school the work was welcomed and both teachers and pupils entered into the contest with the greatest enthusiasm.

Owing to a delay in the arrival of seats, the school in Berlin township did not open Oct. 4th, but was postponed until Oct. 11th.

ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT

When looking into two blue eyes
Which gaze at you
When watching red lips curve and pout,
What else could mere man do?
Her golden hair lay on my breast,
My arm embraced her waist,
Her little hand within my grasp
In confidence was placed,
And I, fresh from the teacher's art
Tried all the very latest steps
With skill the 17th seeks.
I came ducked first with whirl and dip,
Then when I saw that
Upon my darling's cheek I changed
And waited the little dear
The clock struck "one," the clock struck "two."
My strength was almost spent,
Still through the mazes of the dance
Unflinchingly I went;
Until, at last, into her face
I took a stealthy peep
And found, oh joy, my little babe
At last had gone to sleep.

Celebrated Golden Wedding.

A Wood county paper contained the following mention of former Mahoning county people: At the beautiful home two and one-half miles south-east of Jerry City the family of Mrs. and Mrs. W. H. Strook helped to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sept. 21st, 1915. Wm. H. Strook and Miss Drucilla Duer were married at North Jackson, Mahoning county, Oct. 9, 1865, by Rev. Samuel Sturges. They came to Wood county July 6th, 1866, where they bought a farm on which they have since lived with the exception of four years that they again lived in Mahoning county. To this union were born two daughters, Mrs. Leona C. Baird of Fostoria, and Mrs. P. S. Barnhisel, residing near Jerry City. Three sisters, Mrs. Isaac Landers and Miss Lucy Duer of Dunbridge and Mrs. Levi Kistler of Baldwin were present at the celebration. The grand children are Mr. and Mrs. James Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Ober Feasel of Cygnet; Orrin C. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Coe and Miss Nellie A. Baird of Fostoria; Miss Dorothy and Helen Barnhisel and Master Fred A. Barnhisel of Jerry City; and two great-grandsons, Master Lyle and Baby Feasel of Cygnet. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Heaton and son Robert of Jerry City; Carl Hindman, Fostoria, and Miss Alta Dennis of West-on. The happy couple received many beautiful post cards from relatives and friends who could not be present on account of the bride of fifty years being an invalid of over a year and not being able to receive them.

Management After Weaning

There is considerable difference of opinion as to the best age at which to wean pigs. Some advocate leaving the pigs with the sow for ten or twelve weeks—in fact, the sow is allowed practically to wean her own pigs. For producing show pigs this method may answer very well, but it means only one litter a year; at any rate, it does not admit of two litters a year. The average farmer will find it more profitable to wean his pigs early enough to permit two litters a year to be raised. If the young pigs have been taught to eat, and skim milk is available, they may be weaned successfully when six weeks old. It is true that many pigs are weaned before they are six weeks old, but it is seldom advisable to do so if they appear to be thriving with the sow. If skim milk is not available, it is generally advisable to defer weaning for two weeks more, and special pains should be taken to have the pigs well accustomed to their new feed, and eating heartily before they are weaned.

Skim milk and middlings make about the best feed for young pigs after weaning. If the feedings are fine and floury, which is not very likely to occur under present-day methods of milking, which may show itself either in the form of diarrhoea or constipation. Diluting the middlings with a little bran or finely ground oats will help prevent the trouble. Soaking or scalding the middlings is especially useful when no skim milk is to be had, as it makes the pigs like the feed better. To scald the middlings, it is best to pour boiling water on them, cover the vessel, and allow to stand several hours, or from one time of feeding until the next. When the pigs are first weaned it is better to feed four times a day, giving only a small quantity of feed each time, and taking care to keep the trough clean. When well started, they may be changed to three feeds a day.

It is not well to be in a hurry to commence grain. Generally speaking, when pigs are about three months old a little grain may be introduced into their ration. Two parts of middlings and one part of corn meal or ground barley, mixed with skim milk to form a slop, make an excellent ration for growing pigs. As the pigs grow older the proportion of grain to middlings may be increased, but at no time should they be fed exclusively or almost exclusively upon corn, because corn is a poor bone and muscle former. The importance of feeding supplementary feeds with corn has been pretty fully established. The need of such feeds is most important during the early life. A few roots will be found most helpful in keeping young pigs healthy during the summer. The feeder has a wide range of feeds to choose from, and if he understands something of their nature he should have no difficulty in compounding a ration which would give satisfaction.

The aim should be to develop bone and muscle during the early stages of growth, and while the pigs should be thrifty and sleek in the hair, they should not be fed in such a way as to overload them with fat. This is especially true of pigs which are intended for breeding purposes, and which should be carried right through to breeding age upon feeds which stimulate growth and general vigor rather than fat. A reasonable amount of fat is not objectionable, but the development of the frame, the muscular system, and the vital organs must not be neglected, if a satisfactory breeding animal is to be produced. Variety in feeds and plenty of exercise are very essential features in raising an animal that will possess all-round development.—Prof. G. E. Day in Ontario Department of Agriculture, Bulletin 225.

Hints for Hogmen.

Farmers who think of raising hogs on rape in preference to clover, because the gain in weight on such feed is greater, should bear in mind that clover enriches the soil and is therefore the cheapest in the end.

If you haven't a hog pasture, it will pay to fence off a corner of the clover meadow for them. The hogs get more value for you out of the clover than it would be worth in the form of hay, and save the harvesting of it.

If whole oats are scattered very thinly on a floor and the brood sow is allowed to feed them, she will get enough to keep thrifty, while not getting enough to grow fat. This also keeps her busy and contented.

When one has young pigs and breeding stock to care for he must think further than merely what food will fatten most.—New York Farmer.

Granite as Fertilizer.

Farmers everywhere, but especially in New England, know that granite boulders are not good in tilled land. Yet, according to conclusions that have been drawn by government experts from certain experiments, powdered granite may prove a valuable fertilizer. Granite contains potash, and is so good for land that America imports potash salts from Germany at about $100 a ton. The imported salts contain only twice as much potash per ton as certain granites which, it is thought, may be ground at a cost of $3 a ton.—Harper's Weekly.

Week of $25.00 Suits

Showing Strouss-Hirshberg Concentration at Its Best

Strouss-Hirshberg suit supremacy at $25 is not a new thing; but it has never been so thoroughly and widely manifested as it is this week.

The idea of a special week for $25 Suits began the other day when the Suit Chief, then in New York, came upon some unusual $25 values. With these special suits as a nucleus, we have built up this showing—exceptional in variety, exceptional in value, and including the NEWEST of all the new models.

Beautiful Broadcloth Suits

Fine Serge, Gabardine, Corduroy, Whipcord and Tweed Suits—even Velveteens—Fur, braid, embroidery and button trimmed—full Satin-lined in green, blue, brown, as well as black and novelty mixtures. Coats from 26 to 36 inches, box, belted and flare effects.

We particularly invite inspection and comparison of these Strouss-Hirshberg suits this week, because we are confident of their unusual worth and their unusual distinction.

Nemo "Self-Help" Corset Exhibit

In announcing the event, the makers of Nemo Corsets says, "After many years of private experiment, and six months of public test, we are convinced that the Nemo Wonderlift Corset is an effective substitute for separate abdominal binders and bandages; and that, in a large majority of cases, it will prove superior to the best of such appliances.

Nemo Wonderlift Corsets

"Nemo Headquarters" invites all women interested in these remarkable surgical corsets, to visit the Corset Section this week. Models for frail, medium and large figures—each $5.00.

Patrons of this store are particularly fortunate in having a graduate of the Nemo Hygienic Institute, New York, in attendance as our chief corsetiere.

A Great Removal Sale of Rugs and Carpets

This is the fourth large sale that we have inaugurated before moving into our newly acquired annex, and it will be the last, since the rug and carpet stocks are the only other stocks to be affected by the removal.

They will be moved from the Third Floor, New Building, to the Fourth Floor—a tremendous task which we now seek to lighten through this sale.

The selling continues just One Week

We have set this time limit because the moving is to begin in a week. So that to get the best selection, prompt action will be necessary.

The reductions named are extraordinary at this time, since carpet wools have greatly advanced, and are still advancing.
